Library Trustees,

Report of the Superintendent

To the School Board of the School District of Merrimack:

I herewith submit my third annual report as superintendent of the schools of Merrimack and my first report as superintendent of the McGaw Normal Institute.

TEACHERS

Three changes were made in the list of teachers. Miss Alice McIntire, who had taught faithfully and well in Merrimack for several years, resigned her position for a much needed rest. Miss Lois Patterson and Miss Frances Copp resigned and accepted positions in other towns.

School No. 2 was closed and the pupils conveyed to School No. 7. This act of the School Board was wise. The larger number of pupils at No. 7 creates a greater enthusiasm for work and results in a more rapid advancement of the pupils.

Miss Vera Wood, a Keene Normal School graduate, was elected to teach School No. 6.

Miss Irene Cummings, a Lowell Normal School graduate, was elected to teach the upper grades at Reeds Ferry.

The School Board was fortunate in retaining the other teachers. Each of our teachers holds a New Hampshire State Certificate or a Normal School Diploma which entitles the school district to draw full state aid, providing the district meets legal requirements and parents send their children to school as the law demands.

REPAIRS

Major repairs during the year have been confined to School No. 5, where a wood-shed and toilets have been built. The gift of both labor and material by a member of the School Board, Mr. David R. Jones, made it possible to construct a good building at a very reasonable expense.

Many major and minor repairs are still needed. It is our opinion that it is infinitely better to repair thoroughly two buildings a year than to scatter the money in minor repairs on each building.

The rural school of today should receive the utmost care in providing it with facilities for health, comfort and beauty. The states which still maintain primitive schools are the least progressive in other material improvements. This fact clearly demonstrates that the school is the fundamental cause of material welfare as well as it is of social advancement.

ATTENDANCE

The attendance of the pupils at school has improved. There are few families who, either from a lack of knowledge of the school law or from a premeditated intention of breaking the law, keep their children from school. The truant officer will place in the hands of these parents a copy of the Attendance Law and insist that it be obeyed. The strict enforcement of the Attendance Law is necessary that the district may receive from the state the money due from its qualified teachers.

I urge upon parents the importance of regular and punctual attendance for the ethical and moral effect upon the child. A day out of school is a day lost. It can never be made up. The habit formed of being tardy and absent is disasterous to his school work and pernicious in all his after-school life.

WORK ACCOMPLISHED

The improvement in the work of our schools for the year last past is commendable. We are following as far as conditions will permit the Program of Study cutlined by the Department of Public Instruction. It is our purpose to follow it more in detail as conditions change.

REPORT CARDS

Report Cards are sent to the parents or guardians of all pupils five times each year. These report cards give the pupil's rank in his studies, conduct, effort, instances of tardiness and half-day absences.

The rank marks are as follows: 1, Excellent; 2, Good; 3, Fair or Passable; 4, Unsatisfactory; 5, Very Poor.

A careful examination of the pupil's report card will tell the parent just what the pupil is doing and how he is behaving. I urge parents to investigate immediately any unsatisfactory mark (4) by conferring with the teacher.

McGAW NORMAL INSTITUTE

The Trustees of the McGaw Normal Institute on the recommendation of the State Educational Department introduced courses of Agriculture, Mechanics and Domestic Arts. This plan had been contemplated for some time but was not put in force until last September. The change made it necessary to elect as principal a graduate of an Agricultural College and for an assistant a graduate of Household Economics. Mr. E. B. Young, a graduate of the Mass. Agricultural College was elected principal and Miss Helen E. Young, a graduate of Simmons College, assistant.

At the beginning of the school year the work was hindered by the late repairs on the school building and the lack of necessary apparatus and materials. For more details I refer you to the Principal's Report.

OUTLOOK

McGaw Normal Institute is located on an elevation near and overlooking the beautiful Merrimack River. It is near several ponds or small lakes to which instructive and fascinating journeys may be made by the pupils for recreation and study.

Reeds Ferry, a beautiful, healthful and normal village, makes an ideal home for an educational institution. Here the pupils are free from distracting influences that tend to prevent good school work. The one thing needed is the solid and cooperative help of the citizens of Merrimack.

The present course of study is practical and will tend to build up local interest by educating the young to remain in their native town. That the work may be carried on successfully another teacher is needed, which I recommend.

In conclusion I wish to express my appreciation to the citizens, school board, teachers and pupils for their cordial support.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY S. ROBERTS, Superintendent.

Report of Director of Music and Drawing

To the Superintendent of Schools:

It has been the endeavor of the Director of Music and Drawing for the year past to maintain a general supervision over the work of the various schools, planning their tasks with an eye to the gradual development of the individual rather than to put any great emphasis upon particular lines of activity.

The Drawing work has been outlined to fit the needs of the very young as well as the older pupils, beginning with the simplest tasks, learning colors and geometric forms, and advancing from these through paper cutting, mat weaving and other handicraft work to mechanical and free hand drawing. Particular effort has been made to maintain the interest of the children, since no mental development can be attained through work which is uninteresting and therefore half-heartedly done.

In a similar manner the Music has been planned to train the musical sense as well as to teach the element of harmonious expression. The various keys, their signs, how written and their practical use have been taught; also the use and meaning of time signs, the different note lengths, accidentals and the more common arbitrary signs of written music. All of the above has been varied by class singing, commencing with simple pieces in unison and later trying part songs.

An exhibition by all the Merrimack schools, held in the Town Hall last June, gave many of the parents a chance to see the work accomplished.

The Director wishes particularly to express her appreciation of the hearty co-operation which has been shown by the teachers of the various schools.

Respectfully submitted,

MURIEL DAVIS.

JOSIAH N. HENDERSON
School Treasurer

Merrimack, N. H., Feb. 15, 1917

I have examined the above report and find it correctly cast and properly vouched.

ANSON A. PLATTS Auditor.

Merrimack, N. H., Feb. 19, 1917

McGaw Normal Institute

February 14, 1917.

To Superintendent, Trustees and Citizens of Merrimack: As head master of McGaw Normal Institute, the public high school for Merrimack, I submit the following report of my school.

PUPILS

At the beginning of the school year in September, twenty-seven pupils were registered. Since then two have dropped out, one boy to go to work and one girl to enter high school at Manchester, to which city her family moved. The present membership by classes is given below:

| | GIRLS | BOYS | TOTAL |
|------------|-------|--------|-------|
| Freshmen | 5 | 4 | 9 |
| Sophomores | 2 | 2 | 4 |
| Juniors | 5 | 1 | 6 |
| Seniors | 4 | 2 | 6 |
| | | empres | |
| Totals | 16 | 9 | 25 |

Of the above twenty-five, one is a tuition pupil from Bedford. Other outside applications for membership were received the first of the year but as there was no accommodation for board and room nothing was done regarding them.

The attendance during the first two or three months of school was very good while lately it has been rather poor and due, we fear, not always to substantial causes. If we are to compare well with other good schools, there should be an immediate change. Custodians and parents of pupils cannot afford to be careless in their oversight of this matter as it is quite essential that all pupils be present at every session. Absences cannot be excused except for sickness or extreme necessity.

Special mention is given to the following pupils for having a perfect record of attendance the first term:

Helen Wallace Mildred Caswell Herman Boisclair
Albina Beland Elizabeth Greeley Joseph Watkins

TEACHERS

We regret that our teaching force has been somewhat disturbed by the misfortune of our assistant, Miss Helen E. Young of Brockton, a graduate of Simmonds College in the class of 1916. Miss Young was compelled to give up her work with us at the beginning of the second term because of a nervous breakdown. Her present condition is such that she will probably not return to us again. We have already had two substitutes in her place, Miss Isabel Fernald of Dover, N. H, from the New Hampshire Agricultural College at Durham, and Miss Etta S. Waldron of Center Strafford, N. H., from the same college. The head master, Edwin B. Young of Dorchester, Mass., is a graduate of the Massachusetts Agricultural College in the class of 1912.

PROGRAM OF COURSES

We are glad to state that the introduction of the Domestic Arts and Agricultural Courses into the program has been gladly welcomed. Both pupils and parents have shown much interest in them.

The girls in the cooking class have learned something of how to run fires, how to preserve and can fruits and vegetables, how to make various culinary dishes and how to prepare and serve meals. In the sewing class they have not only learned to sew by hand, but with the machine. They have made corset covers, night gowns, chemise, aprons and the like. When one thinks of the great number of young women who grow up without knowing how to cook or sew, and who, when about to make a home, find themselves terribly handicapped, one realizes the true value in these excellent things.

In horticulture the boys have made a study of soils, plant life, fertilizers, manures, etc. One very practical piece of work, not yet completed, is the making of a hot bed which they expect to start early in March. Unlike other studies horticulture will not end in June as each boy will be required to grow a summer project crop. The crop will be potatoes as every boy has chosen this one although there were a large number from which to choose. The projects will be supervised during the summer and possibly a prize given for the best.

The boys of the carpentry class have been so very enthusiastic over their work that the privilege of working outside of class hours has been granted to them. Some of the interesting things they have done are as follows: made benches for the carpentry room thus saving a large sum of money usually expended by schools, sheathed the outhouse which had been condemned by the State Department, cut a door out of the schoolroom where very much needed, repaired all the broken blinds on the building thus greatly improving its appearance, and made a sand table and model house for the primary department of school number three. They also made saw horses, miter boxes, tool chests, bench hooks, sleds, shelves, cabinets and numerous other things.

HINDRANCES

While we have made a fair degree of progress so far this year, there are things which greatly tend to retard the work. In the first place the teaching force is too small. To carry out well the extensive program which is before us is no easy task, as the assistant's breakdown will partly testify. If these courses are to go along the lines already started and in accordance with the recommendations of the authorities at Concord, there will be, another year, an expansion which can only be met by a third teacher.

Secondly, the efficiency of the school and that of the head master is appreciably reduced by putting upon the shoulders of the latter the heating, lighting and cleaning of the school building. The position as head of a public school should be a man's job in itself. To give one the dual office of head master and janitor, however honorable the latter office may be, is as unwise an act as it is crude. Certainly the present antique arrangement should not be allowed to bind down the future.

A third drawback is the lack of needed supplies and equipment. It should not be necessary for teachers to have to buy books to use in class or for the pupils to use in doing their work. Again it should not be necessary for the different departments of the school to go outside for the purpose of borrowing equipment needed to do the work expected of them. This has been the case, especially in the domestic arts class, where they have continually had to go outside to borrow such things as dishes, linen, furniture and foods.

APPROVAL OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT

Two or three advantages derived from having the school approved are as follows: there will be a higher grade of work done with more valuable and attractive courses in the school which will bring larger numbers of pupils and better satisfy the needs of your own Merrimack boys and girls; the latter will not need to be away from you at school in the large city without parental restriction; tuition money may remain in town, and graduates of McGaw will be enabled to enter a normal school or state college without taking examinations or going thru other red tape which non approval would involve.

While we are now on the right track and are fortunate enough to have this approval, we should, as far as possible try to eliminate the above hindrances which endanger it. As a town we should not only give our moral support but our financial support as well. We should see to it that no money is lacking for equipment, and remember that next year there will be an outfit necessary for the forging class. As soon as we begin to support our school the way other towns are supporting theirs we will need have no fear of retaining the much desired approval.

IN CONCLUSION

Visit your school and see its work.

If pleased tell others about it.

Direct to it the young people of the town.

Send your own here if you have any.

If you see a chance for improvement cooperate with the teachers.

Make your school an asset to the community.

Very respectfully submitted, EDWIN B. YOUNG, Head master.
